

CCRY Data Project Revisited

Building a Common Framework for Impact Analysis

FHI 360 has a potential funding opportunity to revisit this work, building on the lessons from the original work 3 years ago.

OBJECTIVE To create an analytic framework that assists individual communities and the network in using existing data sets and common data elements to document success and answer critical question about what works, why, how, and for whom.

APPROACH – Working with CCRY communities:

1. Document CCRY's Theory of Change/Action
2. Identify common data elements, definitions of terms, and other metrics
3. Create analytic framework – key questions, outcomes, approaches to be explored
4. Work with 5 communities to feed database and test the framework
5. Use data base to analyze key questions on impact
6. Work with CCRY to expand utilization of Framework
