

The Trump Administration’s Public Charge Rule Could Impact 200,000 People in Connecticut

The Trump Administration’s “public charge” rule, which would make it more difficult for immigrants to obtain a green card if they use any of a wide range of public benefits. If litigation does not prevent the rule from taking effect, the policy would become effective on Tuesday, October 15, 2019. The public charge rule would make—and has already made—immigrant families afraid to seek programs to which they are eligible and that help them stay strong, productive, and raise children who thrive.

By threatening immigration status when immigrants use programs to meet their family’s basic needs, the rule would make immigrant families in Connecticut afraid to access programs—like health care and food assistance—that support essential needs. This fact sheet describes the potentially chilled population in Connecticut, including several counties facing the greatest impact.

Connecticut
Approximately 200,000 people, including 63,000 children, may be impacted.

NATIONWIDE
Approximately 26 million people, including 9.2 million children, may be impacted.

CONNECTICUT COUNTIES FACING THE GREATEST IMPACT

County	Total Population	Estimated Number of Potentially Impacted	Estimated Share of County Population
Fairfield	942,000	92,000	10%
Hartford	896,000	42,000	5%
